

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention relates to a projection system that can be applied to a projection TV or a projection monitor, and more particularly, to a projection system that can improve a contrast while maintaining a proper brightness of a set where the projection system is applied.